"INDIAN SUMMER" ✓

DEC -4 1920 ✓

- 1 - Opening Title - "Paramount-Post Nature Pictures"
"Indian Summer"
- 2 - There are days which occur in the eastern United States at almost any season of the year, wherein the world reaches its perfection.
- 3 - When the air, the heavenly bodies, and the earth, make a harmony as if Nature would indulge her offspring.
- 4 - When everything that has life gives signs of satisfaction, and the cattle that lie on the ground seem to have great and tranquil thoughts.
- 5 - When clouds floating feathery overhead possess a new softness and beauty.
- 6 - These Halcyons may be looked for with a little more assurance in that pure October weather we distinguish by the name of Indian Summer.
- 7 - The day, immeasurably long, sleeps over the broad hills and the warm wide fields.
- 8 - To have lived through all its long hours seems longevity enough.
- 9 - The solitary places do not seem quite lonely.
- 10- The woods begin to wear the crimson leaf.
- 11- The mountains seem groups of giants in purple and gold.
- 12- The summer tresses of the trees are gone.

PARAMOUNT-POST NATURE PICTURES

- 13 - The stems of pines, hemlocks and oaks almost gleam like iron on the excited eye.
- 14 - The incommunicable trees begin to persuade us to live with them, and quit our life of solemn trifles.
- 15 - This autumn dress of Nature teaches us the poorness of our invention, the ugliness of towns and palaces.
- 16 - These enchantments are medicinal. They sober and heal us.
- 17 - The tempered light of the woods is like a perpetual morning, and is stimulating and heroic.
- 18 - THE END
